The students discuss how to work on their team project for a course on cross-cultural studies. They begin the brainstorming (腦力激盪) session by deciding the theme of the project, the Harvest Festival (豐年祭), and then talk about work distribution (分工) in the preparation of their presentation. The work is divided among the team members by the type of multimedia (多媒體) tools they are going to use, rather than by the content. The advantage of this method for their team project is to ensure a clear and consistent focus throughout their presentation.
