

Dialogue: [episode 3]

Nana: Hi, Cooper.

Cooper: Hi, Nana.

Nana: Oh, let me introduce you! This is Dean. He's an exchange student from Japan.

Dean: Hi, my name is Dean. I'm an exchange student in the Sociology Department.

Cooper: I'm Cooper from the Mass Communications Department. I'm in my third year.

Nana: Cooper gave me lots of pictures he took of me.

Dean: I see. They're great pictures!

Cooper: Well, it's because Nana is so charming.

Nana: Excuse me. I'd rather you didn't take pictures of me right now. Maybe some other time, okay?

Andy: I'm sorry. I'm the guy....

Cooper: I remember you! You're one of Nana's fans!

Andy: Yeah—sorry, but I just couldn't help it. I did what any fan would do.

Dean: That's alright. At least you're fully-charged this time.

Andy: You were there at the contest, too?

Nana: That's right! He was there to cheer me on!

Dean: Right, I was there the whole time.

Andy: I'm Andy. I'm a freshman in the Art Department.

Dean: You made your point that day! Everybody knows you now!

Andy: Well, I only had a very small role, Nana was the main show.

Cooper: A small role? Or would it be a small roll?

Andy: Whatever. Either way is fine with me.
