Cooper's computer can't start (無法開機), and he has important files on it. He calls Dean for help. The PC has a virus (電腦病毒). Dean tries a few procedures and is able to get the PC up and running (正常運作). Cooper is grateful and amazed at Dean's computer expertise. He asks Dean how he is able to know all these things. Dean says he taught himself all about computers and that he relies on the Internet for help. When he has questions, he just asks the people on the Internet. He also uses the Internet to prepare his teaching materials (教材). The Internet is certainly a convenient (方便的) and wonderful (非常好的) tool.
