

Episode Five Dragon Boat Festival, Part One

Description: Dean, Cooper, Andy, and Nana, all clad in sunglasses, T- shirts, shorts, and sandals.

Dean: Cooper, what's the "eco-friendly dragon boat" all about? Care to explain a little?
I am stumped.

Cooper: Well, the "eco-friendly dragon boat" is environmentally friendly because it is made from recycled and eco-friendly materials.

Dean: When did all this start?

Cooper: Since 1997.

Nana: Oh, look, look! Someone's trying out their boat!

(Someone from the other side waves at Nana.)

Cooper: Hey, isn't that Andy?

(Andy is sitting on a boat made of tires.)

Andy (Loudly): Oh, hi... I'm here to take pictures!

Nana: Andy! This boat seems to have some really nice buoyancy.

Andy: That's right! The boats I've tested are all wonderful. The quality is guaranteed.

Cooper: Andy, let me take care of the photographing. Why don't you arrange to have us ride in your boat instead?

Dean: This is my first dragon boat experience, ever!

Nana: Too bad May couldn't come today.

Cooper: Let's take some more pictures for her!

Andy (bringing them some yellow life jackets): Okay, folks, I've taken care of everything. Please put these life vests on, and get ready for an awesome ride!

Everyone: Yes!

